Zoom Student Safety and Privacy for Parents

Student safety is our top priority. We safeguard our community in a variety of ways as described in our safeguarding policy, our class recording policy and through Zoom Privacy Policy (<https://zoom.us/privacy>). You can check out our Privacy Policy and Terms of Service for more information on our security practices.

These are the steps that Making Maths Magic staff have in place to safeguard your children whilst participating in zoom lessons:

- * Teachers have the highest level of privacy settings available applied to their zoom accounts
- * We record our zoom lessons (see class recording policy) and the teacher (as host) resumes full control of the lesson, including sharing their screen
- * Children cannot enter a zoom lesson without being accepted in by the teacher
- * The teacher has control to 'mute' all the children without them being able to unmute themselves
- * The teacher can remotely remove a child/pupil from a live lesson if there is inappropriate behaviour
- * Only the teacher can share their screen
- * All lessons have encrypted invites, unique meeting IDs as well as secure passwords
- * No file sharing is permitted
- * All classrooms are locked after the start of the session.
- * Once you have supported your child to join the zoom meeting, you may wish to leave them to participate in the zoom lesson independently. However, for safeguarding reasons, we insist that children are suitable dressed whilst participating in zoom video calls and recommend that a responsible adult is in earshot or the call.
- * All children are 'muted' on entry into the zoom lesson with only the mic enabled for the teacher until the lesson has been introduced, then the children will have their mic enabled too.

This is what we also request of children, parents/carers during live zoom lessons to ensure its safety for all:

- * Children should be suitably dressed at all times and be in ear-shot of a parent/carer
- * Children should ideally be situated in an area of the house where they can concentrate with little distraction
- * Parents/carers should be mindful that 'background noise' including their own conversations, is picked up on the child's mic for everyone to clearly hear - foul language is strictly forbidden and will result in your child being removed from the live lesson, causing upset to all.

* Children should follow the same behaviour expectations as are in place in after-school Making Maths Magic sessions.
